3 Unions Agree in Ship Tiff

NEW YORK, June 19 (AP)—Negotiating committees for three maritime unions and 39 east and Gulf coast shippers reached an agreement early today for settlement of the shipping tieup on those coasts on the basis of a five per cent increase.

The settlement agreement, announced at 1:40 a.m. by John W. Gibson, assistant secretary of labor, would benefit 110,000 seamen on the Atlantic and Gulf coasts if approved by unions' memberships and by the shipowners.

Factor for Pacific

On the west coast, Nathan Feinsinger, labor department trouble-shooter, said that "undoubtedly the settlement on the east coast will be a factor to reckon with here, but just what its effect will be I cannot say." Negotiations are still in progress.

Joseph Curran, president of the National Maritime union (CIO), said special membership meetings would be called later today for ratification of the agreement. Curran's union had led the move to embargo sailings upon the expiration of old contracts last Sunday midnight.

Contracts Extended

Present contracts of the National Maritime union, the American Communications association and the Marine Engineers Beneficial association, all CIO affiliates, will be extended for one year with a wage re-opening date of Dec. 15, Gibson said.

The labor department officials said that under the new agreement the seamen would receive overtime pay for holidays annually for work performed at sea or in port.

The agreement here came after the NMU had reached a separate agreement with operators of tankers, also for a five per cent boost.

Red Veto Predicted On Arms

LAKE SUCCESS, June 19 (AP)—Delegates to the United Nations were reported agreed today that a Russian veto of the U. S. plan for tackling world arms reduction would mean a virtual end to the United Nations disarmament efforts.

The possibility of a Russian veto was raised after the U. N. conventional armaments commission yesterday approved and forwarded the U. S. working plan to the security council and then voted down a Soviet proposal which would have linked disposal of atomic weapons with the question of conventional arms.

U. S. Plan Flayed

Following this step, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko said adoption of the U. S. proposals would lead to collapse of U. N. efforts to regulate and control reduction of arms.

"The separation of arms limitation and prohibition of atomic weapons is contrary to the (Dec. 14, 1946) general assembly resolution," he declared.

"It will constitute an obstacle to the future work of the arms commission and to the security council. It will involve the collapse of the method to implement the general assembly resolution concerning the general regulation of armaments and armed forces, and all its consequences."

"Nothing to Say"

Asked by newsmen later if his statement meant he would not attend any more meetings of the armaments commission, Gromyko replied: "I have nothing more to say."

"What then will you do when the plan comes before the security council?" the Russian delegate was asked.

"Let's wait and see," he said.

Some delegates speculated that Gromyko intends to use his veto power.

The feeling was growing in some quarters that the time has come to call a halt to a minority rule in the world organization. They pointed out that other efforts to establish peace-making machinery were bogged down because of a minority veto.

Soviets May Approve Bid On Aid Plan

LONDON, June 19 (U.P.)—Indications appeared today that Russia may accept an Anglo-French invitation to a conference on European economic reconstruction but Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin withheld comment pending a formal reply from Moscow. Bevin spoke in the house of commons but did not reveal the state of negotiations with Russia in a quick three-power conference on economic measures next week.

"The reply of the Soviet government is awaited," he said, "and the house will understand that until it is received there is nothing I can usefully say on the subject today."

Bevin, apparently weary after his two-day negotiation in Paris with Foreign Minister Georges Bidault, told the house that Secretary of State George C. Marshall's plan for U. S. aid to Europe was "a great opportunity for Europe and a chance that his majesty's government will not miss."

Opposition Lauds Plan

Acting opposition leader Anthony Eden spoke of the Marshall plan in similar terms, saying that "we have the possibility of creating a new era for our tortured continent."

"Here is that second chance that so rarely comes and which when it does come is in the nature of a miracle," he said.

The answer of Russian acceptance or rejection was expected to be known soon.

Bid Sent Wednesday

The Anglo-French talk resulted in the dispatch to Moscow last night of an urgent invitation for Molotov to join Bevin and Bidault in a three-power conference next week.

A United Press dispatch from Moscow, filed before the formal Anglo-French invitation was sent, gave a hint that Molotov might accept such a bid. It was cleared by the Soviet censorship.

Informed Sources

Sir Maurice Peterson, the British ambassador in Moscow, will deliver the invitation to Molotov today, informed sources said. Peterson is expected to be instructed to discuss developments regarding the Anglo-French proposal. Molotov has been informed on the plan of the bids for a little information available.

The dispatch from Moscow added, "Foreign circles here believed that Molotov's answer did not shut the door on eventual Soviet participation in the plan."

120 Dwellings Will Be Built At AAF Base

WASHINGTON, June 19 (AP)—The army engineers announced today that 120 officer-style family dwelling units will be built at Mountain Home airbase at a cost of $874,110.

The project will consist of 30 buildings with four apartments each. They will be of a new design adopted for army quarters to comply with a congressional limitation of $7,300 on each unit.

The quarters consist of a combination living-dining room, kitchen, bath and two bedrooms.

CONTRACTS LET

PORTLAND, Ore., June 19 (AP)—Morrison-Knudsen company of Boise, has been awarded an $874,110 contract to build 30 officers' quarters buildings at Mountain Home air field.

Army engineers announced the award.

Tointer-Mountain Plumbing company, Boise, was given a $38,543 contract to construct streets, sidewalks, sewer and water systems. The city Electric company of Boise received a $9,852 contract for the electrical distribution system.

Jaycees Start 'Keep Idaho Green' Drive

An educational campaign to "Keep Idaho Green" is being launched by the Twin Falls Junior Chamber of Commerce, the Rev. R. S. Christensen, chairman of the committee, announced Thursday.

Signs will be erected on the highways leaving Twin Falls and car stickers will be distributed. In addition, metal license plate guards bearing the safety message will be sold at service stations, Warberg Brothers and by the Rev. Mr. Christensen.

Plans Launched

Donald W. Olson, Cascade, a member of Gov. C. A. Robins' "Keep Idaho Green" committee, was in Twin Falls Wednesday afternoon launching plans for the coordination of efforts on the annual drive.

The Rev. Mr. Christensen, pointing out the dangers involved and the damage caused by forest and range fires, said that although the number of forest fires has been decreasing in past years, there were 586 fires last year.

Caution Urged

J. A. Keith, district grazier at Shoshone, has reported the grass in range land is high and dry this year and represents a potential fire hazard. He joined the Rev. M. Christensen in appealing to campers and picnickers to use caution in forest and brush areas.

Members of the executive committee for "Keeping Idaho Green" include R. W. McRoberts, Twin Falls; Walter A. Conner, Hansen; W. A. Smith, Shoshone, and Lloyd Barron, Fairfield.

Discussion of U. S., Russia Held by Club

A symposium, followed by general discussion, provided Kiwanians with the opportunity to exchange views on United States-Russian relations during Thursday's luncheon meeting at the Park hotel.

Members of the panel leading the discussion were A. (Gus) Kelker, Jess Jennison and Jack Thomas. The question was: "What attitude should we maintain in dealing with Russia that would be most beneficial to the peace of the world in general and the people of the United States in particular?"

"We must maintain an aggressive policy and be militarily prepared for any eventuality," Kelker declared, pointing out that since the world began there has been conflict and that there always will be warfare.

Continuing, he contended that the United States should assist nations that oppose communism, and that there should be compulsory military training for youth. Turning to the atom bomb, he argued that it should be kept a complete secret, and, if other nations start making them, the United States should endeavor to turn out even more effective atom bombs.

In his part of the discussion, Jennison held that the United States should first determine Russia's attitude toward this country, as the Russians may harbor false ideas as to our economy and methods. He advocated that the United States assist poverty-stricken areas of the world and keep abreast of corporate advances in industry. He also recommended universal military training on a world-wide basis, with Russia, for example, pivoting U. S. training.

U. S. Turk Envoy Aid Mission Head

WASHINGTON, June 19 (U.P.)—President Truman today named Edwin C. Wilson, ambassador to Turkey to be chief of the American mission under the first year of British aid program.

The nomination, which was expected, was sent to the senate along with that of Charles E. Saltzman of New York to be assistant secretary of the interior for Wilson's post.

Truman Plots Talk, Rejects Sales Appeal

WASHINGTON, June 19 (AP)—President Truman today rejected an appeal for him to take to the air in cursing labor bill.

Col. Marion Rushton, Democratic national committeeman from Montgomery, Ala., raised the question at a White House conference in the course of which he asked Mr. Truman to approve the legislation.

Discussion Cut Short

A Democratic party official told reporters Mr. Truman cut short this line of discussion. The official said Mr. Truman remarked that he will make his own decision on the basis of an analysis he is now studying.

The official said Mr. Truman commented that he was going to make his own decision from the standpoint of what he thought was in the best interests of the country.

Mr. Truman worked between conferences today on the message he will transmit to congress along with his decision on the controversial Taft-Hartley legislation.

Send Message Tomorrow

White House aides indicated the message may be transmitted around noon tomorrow. If it contains a veto, it will go to the house for consideration first. Speaker Martin, R., Mass., plans a quick vote.

In view of this step, Chairman Taft, O., of the senate Republican policy committee said GOP senators have been urged to be on hand for a possible night session tomorrow, as well as Saturday session. This would enable the senate to take up the veto promptly in event the house should vote to override.

'Produce, Conserve,' Shipper Group Told

SUN VALLEY, June 19 (AP)—Gov. C. A. Robins called upon members of the Idaho Potato and Onion shippers association today to strive toward two objectives—production and soil conservation.

In an address before the annual convention of the association, Robins said "since agriculture constitutes so large a portion of the total production of Idaho and since all our efforts are bent on two objectives, perhaps these should be re-emphasized."

The chief executive said first production of the two crops should be increased both from the standpoint of quantity and quality.

"A premium product," Robins declared, "will produce a premium price, and [illegible] we should never be satisfied until we have gone the limit in producing a premium product."

The other objective is continuity of supply of this product which helps to stabilize our marketing. Here the shipper as well as the grower should lend his aid in soil conservation and improved cropping practices.

Robins told the delegates "You have helped mightily in making Idaho great—let's make it greater."

The slate of prominent speakers for the meeting includes Secretary of Commerce W. Averell Harriman and George F. Ashby, president of the Union Pacific railroad company. They will address the group tomorrow.

Also convening here were members of the Idaho advertising commission. They expected to approve a design for the Gem state's 1948 automobile license plates as well as confer with members of the potato and onion shippers association.

Speakers during opening sessions of the association confab included O. D. Miller of Phoenix, Ariz., former president of the Western Growers association, and E. J. Blalock of Fort Worth, Tex.

Bureau Likes Vandenberg's Plan for Aid

WASHINGTON, June 19 (AP)—Senator Vandenberg's proposal for a bi-partisan survey of how much more aid the United States can "safely" give foreign countries seems assured today of state department blessing.

It is uncertain, however, whether the department will accept in full the foreign assistance planning program laid down last Saturday by the Republican chairman of the senate foreign relations committee or whether it will suggest some modifications of that plan.

Undersecretary of State Will Clayton told a news conference yesterday that so far as Vandenberg's proposal has to do with the study of American resources and the ability of this country to send further help abroad he considers it a very wise suggestion.

But in so far as determining how much foreign countries need, Clayton said, that is a matter which those countries can best determine themselves, subject to checks by state department, treasury and other American economic officials abroad.

Diplomatic authorities indicated that Secretary Marshall still has the Vandenberg plan under study and that when Marshall and his advisers have worked out exactly how they think a bi-partisan approach should be developed, the cabinet officer then will discuss the whole question with the Michigan senator.

Vandenberg's proposal covered three points: (1) The limits within which the United States "may safely and wisely" plan foreign assistance; (2) The basis upon which such a system of help should be undertaken, including "reciprocal considerations" and (3) The over-all requirements in both Europe and Asia "which are calculated to be involved."

Long Era of Marine Duty in China Ends

TIENTSIN, June 19 (U.P.) — The leathernecks headed for home today, ending an era of American military power in northern China dating back more than 40 years to the Boxer rebellion.

Maj.-Gen. Samuel L. Howard announced completion of the U. S. marines' post-war mission in northern China as 1,000 marines, final group of the 1st division, sailed from Tangku.

Charge May Oust Hungarian Chief

BUDAPEST, June 19 (AP) — A reliable informant said today a new communist "white paper" on the alleged plot against the Hungarian republic, due to be published in a few days, might be the first step in an attempt to oust President Zoltan Tildy from office.

The informant said the white paper would seek to implicate a son-in-law of Tildy, Victor Chornoky, and would mention Tildy himself. The communists say the document is based on depositions taken from persons accused of plotting.

Tildy is so to have been present at a meeting of his Small Holders party leaders when former Premier Ferenc Nagy announced the Hungarians were insisting upon appointment of a communist as minister of the interior. Attendance at this meeting, the informant said, apparently made Tildy anti-communist in the eyes of the communists.

Hunter, Lost Since Fall, Found Dead

ST. ANTHONY, June 19 (AP)—Sheriff Calvin Smith of Fremont county said today that the body of Joe Schaefer, 60, Pocatello hunter lost last October 23 in the Partridge creek area near Pinview, had been found last night.

Sheriff Smith said he had received no details as to the location, but he said that according to the report received by him, identification was made by western states ranger Preston Flaherty Logger, reported he found the body.

Rupert-Burley Group Returns With Appropriation Increase

RUPERT, June 19—A Rupert and Burley delegation sent to Washington, D. C., to plead for increased appropriations for western reclamation returned Wednesday with congressional assurance of a $54,000,000 boost in reclamation appropriations.

Gene Killion, secretary-manager of the Rupert Chamber of Commerce, said the group had conferred with veteran officials; Sen. Henry C. Dworshak; Sen. Glen H. Taylor; Michael Straus, commissioner of reclamation; William Warne, assistant secretary of the interior, and other Washington officials regarding the increased appropriations and the opening of the Minidoka northside pumping extension.

On the delegation to the nation's capital were Killion, Howard Moffat and Bill Henscheid, Rupert, and William R. Thompson, Burley.

Killion pointed out that before the group's trip letters had been sent to Chambers of Commerce throughout 11 western states urging them to send telegrams and letters to their congressional delegations urging support for the Rupert group in their plea for increased appropriation. Killion stressed the group sought more money for all federal reclamation projects in the west.

The Rupert chamber official said the group conferred with army engineers regarding flood control measures on the Palisades dam and with Col. Jack Taylor, national representative of the American Legion, in efforts to get the veterans' organization's backing on the opening of the Minidoka northside pumping extension which would provide land openings for a large number of veterans.

The group also conferred with representatives of Gen. Omar Bradley, veterans administration director, on the veteran angle of the project.

Help of the United States Chamber of Commerce in promoting the northside extension was assured on the trip. Killion also conferred with chamber officials regarding membership drive in Idaho for secretaries of Chambers of Commerce. He is state chairman of the campaign.

Senate Gives Wool Bill 10 Vote Margin

WASHINGTON, June 19 (AP) — Senate approval sent to the White House today administration-opposed legislation permitting higher wool tariffs or restrictions on imports.

The vote for the measure was 48 to 38.

Backers say the measure is designed to protect the American wool market against low prices resulting from imports of foreign wool.

Administration leaders, including Secretary of State Marshall, have argued that the policy it lays down will undermine United States efforts at the Geneva trade conference to lower world tariff barriers.

The house, which wrote the controversial provision into the bill, approved it earlier this week by a voice vote.

Just before the senate vote, Senator Taft, R., O., told his colleagues that objections to it are "utterly unfounded."

"The bill won't interfere at all with our foreign trade program," he shouted.

The bill continues through 1948 the requirement for the government to support wool prices at the level now being paid.

The bill provides that the President may raise wool duties or impose import limitations whenever shipments of foreign wool threaten to force down domestic prices.

IDAHO VOTE SPLIT

WASHINGTON, June 19 (AP)—The senate vote accepting the conference report on the wool bill today included:

Republicans for the report: Dworshak, Ida.; Watkins, Utah; Cain, Washington; Morse and Cordon, Ore.

Democrats against: Taylor, Ida.

Democrats for; Magnuson, Washington.

Sen. Thomas, D., Utah, was not recorded as voting.

Probe Reveals China 'Clash' Over-Played

TIHWA, June 17 (Delayed) (AP)—The fighting, which apparently didn't amount to much in the first place, has died down in the Sinkiang-outer Mongolian border clash—but explosive questions remain. Chiang Kai-shek's top representatives in northwest China charge that Soviet Russia "inspired" the incident which flared up June 6.

The spokesmen—a general and a foreign ministry official—charged that Russia is trying to wrest at least economic control of this fast, barren province from China, and is using pro-Soviet Mongolians to help accomplish it.

They add that outer Mongolia has "territorial ambitions" in Sinkiang, and wants to push the boundary line 125 miles farther south.

The general said three parties were behind the border trouble—outer Mongolians, three pro-Soviet rebel groups within Sinkiang and a "third party" by which he indisputably meant Russia.

Details still are not entirely clear

Garners Truth

Tom Masterson, Associated Press correspondent in Shanghai, flew to Tihwa, capital of China's remote Sinkiang province, to obtain the first direct report by an American newsman on the recent border clash between outer Mongolians and Chinese in a dispute never fully made clear by Chinese dispatches.

15 Persons Killed In Airliner Crash

NEW YORK, June 19 (U.P.)—Pan American World airways reported that 15 passengers and crew members were killed today when one of their airliners crash landed in eastern Syria.

A report phoned by a surviving crew member, Third Officer Eugene W. Boddenberry, River Edge, N. J., to Pan American's office in Damascus, said that eight of the 27 passengers aboard were killed and that only three crew members including himself survived.

He named the other two surviving crew members as the purser and the stewardess.

The scene of the crash was in the Euphrates river valley near the border of Iraq.

PROGRESS

GRAND ISLAND, Nebr., June 19—The wind whisked Mrs. Willard Palmer's hat from her head as she was crossing a street. She watched as traffic bore down on the bonnet as it lay in the middle of the intersection.

But just ahead of the traffic a jeep dashed across and the driver scooped up the hat, stopped at the curb and gave it to Mrs. Palmer.

"I was glad to have the gentleman in the jeep prove that chivalry is not gone—only changed," said Mrs. Palmer.

"Yakima Plan" of Housing to Be Aired At Friday Meet of Mayor's Committee

What is the Yakima plan?

That question will be answered by a federal housing agency official when he confers with members of the mayor's coordinating committee during a meeting in Twin Falls Friday.

A preview of salient points of the plan that derives its name from Yakima, Wash., where it originated was provided by W. O. Park, Boise, housing expediter, during a recent visit to Twin Falls. Its keynotes are cooperation and the objective of doing something about the housing shortage.

Mayor N. K. Buck of Yakima was primarily responsible for instituting the plan. When he took office Jan. 1, 1947, he placed veterans' housing at the top of his list for immediate action. Although many new homes had been built in that community, their average price was $8,850, as compared to the average annual income of $2,400 per veteran.

Discussions with veterans' representatives and federal housing officials indicated that chief obstacles to low-cost building were scarcity of materials, high cost, inefficiency of labor, inefficient management, lack of cooperation between labor and management and unreasonable profits by contractors and subcontractors, the official pointed out. Deciding that a two-bedroom house at $4,500 would be the minimum size and maximum cost to provide veterans with housing, Mayor Buck began his campaign.

He spoke before labor meetings for support in reducing cost and for greater efficiency. Next he appealed to building material dealers, and eventually a continuous flow of materials was promised. After considerable discussion, the mayor and his committee secured competitive bidding on various sub-contracting jobs to reduce the cost of house.

A reputable contractor was invited to make use of the agreements and understandings with labor, suppliers and sub-contractors, and the contractor agreed to hold his overall profit to not more than 10 per cent. In return, he was assured a ready market for his houses and volume construction. Several other contractors asked to participate and three were accepted.

The first house completed under the program was dedicated March 15, 1947, and the final lowest cost fixed, including lot, was $4,750. Construction of 19 other houses was then started, and eventual plans call for erecting some 200 homes.

Such is the program that will be considered for possible introduction into Twin Falls where the housing shortage is equally serious.

Probe Shows Border Clash Not So Great

—gor plentiful. The Chinese general intimated the Sinkiang provincial troops defeated and pushed back the Mongolians to their own border. But he wasn't exactly explicit.

Central News agency reports that Soviet planes were involved are generally debunked, however. The general said five planes bombed the provincial troops' positions for four days. One plane was shot down but landed in outer Mongolian territory.

Declines Statement

The nationalist officer declined to say whether the planes were Russian. He said reports averred the aircraft had markings similar to the Soviets' red star and that the Mongolians wore caps with insignia resembling the Russian.

Other sources said they did not consider this unusual since the Russians organized, trained and equipped the outer Mongolian army.

Another source, Gen. Chiang Eh-chung, director of Chiang Kai-shek's northwest headquarters, told me that "rebellious pro-Soviet" elements were demanding autonomy in this frontier province.

No Trouble Seen

Chiang stated, however, he did not anticipate "difficulties" in completing reorganization of the provincial government—under the control of China.

Others in Tihwa were not so optimistic. They agreed the situation was not likely to erupt again in the near future. But they predicted further and more severe trouble within six months, principally in the regions along the borders of Russia and outer Mongolia.

There is unrest in these areas, particularly Tahcheng, Ashan, Ining and Ili where non-Chinese, who comprise 90 per cent of the population, strongly favor Russia to China for chiefly economic reasons.

Airport Work To Start Soon For Hazelton

HAZELTON, June 19—Work on clearing sagebrush for the Hazelton airport, one and one-quarter miles south of town, will begin soon, John McCabe, chairman of the airport committee, said today.

A total of $3,800 of local money has been raised to start the project and word was received this morning from H. K. Glidden, district civil aeronautics engineer at Boise, that $4,075 in federal funds would be made available for the airstrip.

Originally, $5,383 in federal funds were earmarked for the field when sufficient money could be matched by Hazelton residents. Glidden explained the Hazelton allocation was being cut in order that federal funds could be allocated for other Idaho airports and that as soon as increased local funds were available more CAA money would be allocated to the Hazelton airstrip.

McCabe said the 3,000-foot long airport would be 500 feet wide and that more improvements would be added later.

He said the airstrip would be especially beneficial to farmers for crop dusting operations.

Cruelty Charged In Two Divorces

Two suits for divorce were filed in the office of the district clerk Thursday morning, both charging extreme cruelty.

In the other action Nadeen N. Teis was charged with cruelty by Orvil S. Teis, whom she married in April, 1940. No community property was listed and custody of their 4-year-old daughter was not asked. His attorney is W. L. Dunn.

Wrong Irrigation Given Blame for Bottleneck Spuds

ABERDEEN, June 19 (U.P.)—Associate Horticulturist N. W. Nielsen said today that two-year experiments at the Aberdeen branch experiment station and of the University of Idaho show that faulty irrigation is responsible for bottleneck tubers in russet Burbank potatoes.

Nielsen suggests that fields be carefully watched to see that potatoes have adequate moisture for tuber formation and growth. Moisture should be maintained during the growing season and particularly during midsummer when temperatures are high.

Nielsen said that delayed early irrigation, too frequent irrigations or insufficient soaking contributed to the production of the so-called bottleneck potatoes.

STARK, SHOCKING DRAMA OF TERRIFYING SWAMP MADNESS

Head of Weed Bureau Gives Control Data

Recommendations and information have been compiled by Harry S. Gault, county weed control bureau director, to clarify the uncertainty concerning dilutions, concentrations, percentages and types of 2,4-D weed killers.

Dichlorophenoxyacetic acid itself, 2,4-D, is absolutely insoluble in water. As a result all 2,4-D weed killers are either esters, amines, or salts of 2,4-D acid. These various chemicals contain varying amounts of pure acid and have weights per gallon ranging from eight pounds to as high as 11 pounds per gallon, Gault said.

Content Differs

As an illustration, a weed killer weighing 10 pounds per gallon and containing 40 per cent pure 2,4-D acid by weight yields four pounds of pure 2,4-D while one weighing eight pounds per gallon and containing 40 per cent pure 2,4-D acid by weight yields only 3.2 pounds pure acid.

Some weed killer manufacturers, instead of stating the percentage or weight of pure 2,4-D acid, give the weight or percentage of the salt, amine, or ester present. In this case, it is necessary to know the percentage of 2,4-D acid in the compound.

As an example, the sodium salts yield 85 to 91 per cent pure acid, di-amines yield 68 per cent, tri-amines yield 60 per cent, and esters yield from 75 to 80 per cent pure 2-4-D acid.

Study Advised

Inasmuch as present indications are that the most important factor in using 2,4-D is not the form of the material but the amount of actual 2,4-D acid used farmers purchasing 2,4-D materials were advised to study the information.

Gault pointed out that the exact 2,4-D acid content for most weed killers now marketed is available at the county week control bureau.

Because of great variations in material, all recommendations for weed control using 2,4-D are given in pounds of pure 2,4-D acid per acre when used with from 100 to 200 gallons of water.

The amount of water used will vary with different sprayers and operators. It is difficult to cover an acre with less than 80 gallons of water and more than 200 gallons gives a very weak solution.

Only the spray adhering to the plant is effective and the plant should be thoroughly wet with spray. Excessive wetting does not increase the kill and is only a waste of material.

Droplet Spray Best

Any sprayer delivering a fine droplet spray is satisfactory. Fog or mist sprays tend to allow excessive drift while coarse or direct sprays tend to blow material from plants and are very wasteful.

Plants should be sprayed when there is a maximum sap or plant juice movement. This means that soil moisture should be rather high and the plant in a moderately rapid growing condition. Kills will be poor if plants are dry, over mature and woody. Those plants should be cut back and allowed to regrow before spraying.

Recommended dosages are three pounds of pure 2,4-D acid per acre for morning glory and white top; four pounds for Canada thistle, knapweed and other perennials; one and one-half pounds for annuals in lawns or along ditch banks and fence rows and for selective spraying in grain. These amounts of pure 2,4-D acid per acre are to be used with from 100 to 200 gallons of water per acre, or for lawns with one gallon of water per square rod.

"Don'ts" Listed

Gault compiled a long list of "Don'ts" in connection with use of 2,4-D.

1. Don't expect a 100 per cent kill on perennial weeds with one application of 2,4-D.
2. Don't disturb plants sprayed with 2,4-D until at least complete top growth wilting takes place. Immediate irrigation is permissible.
3. Don't expect to kill seeds in the soil.
4. Don't use excessive amounts. Seedling injury another year will result and kills will not be increased.
5. Don't spray grain as it emerges from the boot. After it is headed out no injury will result.
6. Beware of drift when spraying on windy days or around gardens and ornamental plants.
7. Don't use sprayers that have used 2,4-D for other purposes without thoroughly cleaning. Wash with clean water, then fill the tank with clean water, then fill the tank with clean water, add a pound of baking soda or one pint of household ammonia for each 15 gallons of water and let stand for 12 to 48 hours. Rinse the water through the pump, hoses and nozzles. Rinse again with clean water.

Kerosene Needed

(Where an ester of 2,4-D has been used, kerosene should be substituted for the soda wash water. Use sufficient kerosene to operate the pump properly. Spray the kerosene back into the tank with the hose, being sure to spray the inside of the tank thoroughly. Rinse with clean water.)

8. Don't worry about stock injury. 2,4-D is relatively non-poisonous, non-corrosive and non-explosive, and is not a fire hazard. This statement may not apply to all the carriers or chemical preparations containing 2,4-D.
9. Don't spray in wet weather or when plants are wet from rain or heavy dew.

Sprayers in Use

Reviewing the program of the county weed control bureau, Gault said four large sprayers and one small portable sprayer are now in use. A chlorate crew works primarily along highways. Gassing, because of critical moisture requirements and high labor cost, must be performed by individual farmers.

Field men are employed and will endeavor to contact the majority of the farmers. Anyone wishing immediate work should contact them or the county weed control office.

The field men include Avis Allen, Kimberly; E. M. Guest, Twin Falls; Drew Staats, Filer; E. H. Turner, Buhl; and Farley Harmon, Castleford. Men in charge of sprayers are Buhl Dobson, Kimberly; R. C. Tolman, Twin Falls; J. A. Miller, Filer; and Frank Gletzen, Buhl.

Weed district 3 has employed Frank Lorain, Filer, for work in that area, but the county weed bureau will handle control work there, Gault said.

CAMPAIGN BOOMERANGS

It is not surprising that the voters of Twin Falls and other Magic Valley towns have turned thumbs down on liquor by the drink, and unless there is a change in the ways of those who would liberalize our liquor laws, it is quite possible the entire state will go completely dry within a few years.

Fundamentally, Idaho's system of state-operated liquor stores is good, because a certain percentage of the people will always drink whether they can obtain their liquor legally or not. So a state control system designed to confine drinking as much as possible to the homes has its merits.

But the way this system has been abused in Idaho by various state administrations and private operators in the liquor-selling business has given the whole set-up a shady complexion.

When a previous state legislature "liberalized" the Idaho control system by permitting the so-called private locker clubs, the operators of such clubs were given an opportunity to demonstrate their good intentions. But with comparatively few exceptions, such clubs were soon selling liquor by the drink, with a few customer bottles on hand as a blind.

Then, during the last session of the legislature, the story of missing state liquor stamps came to light, with a lot of unusual developments including a legislative investigation which, in effect, branded the whole liquor set-up in Idaho as a sorry mess.

So to top it all off, the last state legislature, instead of demonstrating any guts one way or another, passed the buck back to the people with its local option law. That may mean hundreds of elections before it's all over—elections which will only fan hatreds, send liquor-by-the-drink seekers to the highways, and divide communities against each other.

In Twin Falls, those who would have gained the most from liquor by the drink, overplayed their hands and identified themselves all too closely with the so-called liberal group. They were too-apparently anxious to win their objective—to the extent that their campaign at times appeared not only ridiculous but crude.

Two years hence, perhaps, those who favor liquor by the drink may be able to convince the voters that liquor by the drink is worth a trial. But they will never convince anyone of anything with the tactics they employed in this campaign.

EXPERT OPINIONS

When the house of representatives decided to restore $40,000,000 previously cut from the army air force budget, two of the most persuasive arguments for the restoration came from Reps. William J. Miller, Republican, of Connecticut, and John B. Miller, Democrat, of Mississippi. It is interesting, and perhaps significant, that both men are disabled military pilots.

Mr. Miller was a World war I flyer. Both his legs were amputated as a result of an airplane accident in France. Mr. Williams, 28, enlisted in November, 1941. He lost an arm when a plane he was piloting crashed in South America.

Mr. Miller told the house that the Pratt-Whitney engine division, according to its president, had laid off 60 per cent of its engineers and some research men because it could not pay their salaries. "Forty million dollars," he said, "in comparison to the amount called for in this bill, is a relatively small sum of money, but it may mean a lot to the airplane industry."

In his speech, Mr. Williams said, "Four years ago I was given an airplane to fly overseas that was the fastest and latest thing out, a Martin B-26 . . . it was absolutely the fastest thing anybody had ever heard of in those days in the way of bombers. Today that plane is not only obsolete, it is ancient. . . . By the same token, the B-17 is not only obsolete, it is ancient. They are destroying them as fast as they can and replacing them with B-29s and B-36s. Even the B-29 is obsolete."

That, of course, is the continuing story in military aviation. Theoretically, any plane is obsolescent from the day it takes to the air, if not before. So the problem confronting the army and navy air arms and the aviation industry today is to maintain the core of an aircraft industry and to continue research and development.

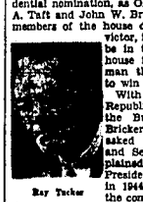

The $40,000,000 which the house restored means 188 more planes than otherwise would have been the case. It brings the AAF total of new fighters and bombers to 749 for fiscal 1949, plus 570 new aircraft for the navy.

This is little enough compared to the 3,000 new planes a year which the air co-ordinating committee considers the minimum number necessary as a defense force whenever world peace is assured and international disarmament is under way.

The sadder the job, the more time you have to become disgusted with it.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

CANDIDATES—When a politically important state has two prospective candidates for an imminent presidential nomination, as Ohio possesses in Sens. Robert A. Taft and John W. Bricker, it is essential that the members of the house delegation back the eventual victor, if any. Otherwise, they would be the most distinguished dog-house in the United States if the man they opposed should happen to win the presidency.

Ray Tucker

With that difficulty in mind, Republican house members from the Buckeye state cornered Mr. Bricker several months ago, and asked the score between himself and Senator Taft in 1948. He explained that the son of the former President had stepped aside for him in 1944, and that he would return the compliment next year. He added that he had made no formal announcement at Mr. Taft's own request.

The reason for the latter's delay is obvious. Were Mr. Bricker to take himself out of the contest formally and publicly, it would amount to notice that his senatorial colleague was an active candidate.

Unlike Harold E. Stassen, Mr. Taft prefers to await an irresistible, public demand that he head the GOP ticket in 1948.

SHOCKED—In view of this background, Ohio's Republican representation in the house was shocked and chagrined when they recently received a letter urging them to support Mr. Bricker for president because of his anti-red record. It carried the signature of John W. Galbraith, chairman of the veterans committee against communism.

Every well-informed Ohio congressman knows that John Galbraith, Columbus real-estate operator and part owner of the Pittsburgh Pirates along with "Bing" Crosby, is Mr. Bricker's political pal and "angel," so to speak. He helped to put the former governor into politics, and they are still good friends.

QUESTION — If he were privately sponsoring a Bricker-for-president movement, it meant only one thing. It meant that Mr. Bricker was saying one thing and meaning something else.

The dismayed Ohioans at the western wing of the capitol building held a political huddle, and decided to put the important question straight to Mr. Bricker himself.

He laughed quietly as he pointed out that Mr. Galbraith, who wrote and signed the letter, was not Mr. Galbraith. He explained that he did not know the anti-communist sponsor of his candidacy.

• • •

QUITTING—Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg, president pro tempore of the senate, chairman of the foreign relations committee and a key, Roosevelt-Truman adviser on foreign policies, will retire from public life at the end of his present term, unless the Republicans nominate and elect him to the White House next year.

This will not be news to Michigan readers, for he announced his plans on the day after his re-election last November. His present term ends in 1953, when he will be almost 69, and he thinks that he deserves a rest.

The departure of so able and likable a man from Washington, however, will probably be a surprise to most people, who were reading other news stories on the day after last year's exciting election.

Two other veteran workhorses are also quitting—Wallace H. White of Maine, Republican senate leader, and "Ed" Johnson of Colorado. Administration advisers are trying to persuade Mr. Johnson to run again, for they fear that they may lose Colorado without him on the ticket. But he insists that he intends to bow out.

• • •

PLANS—The Democrats have already laid plans which, they hope, will enable them to recapture the senate next year. They will need a majority in the upper chamber, where major Truman-Marshall moves on the checkerboard of foreign affairs must be ratified. They have only slight expectation of regaining a majority in the house.

The senatorial odds appear to favor the administration. To obtain numerical control of the senate, they must pick up only four seats. Outside the solid south, only four Democrats are up for re-election, whereas 18 senate Republicans must face the voters.

• • •

CLINCH—The Democrats, of course, must clinch the seats they now hold to reach their goal. The four non-southerners on trial in 1948 are Senators Johnson, Colo., Theodore Green, R. I., Carl Hatch, N. M., and James E. Murray, Mont.

Hatch and Green are regarded as sure winners, but Montana GOP-ers, together with ex-Sen. Burton K. Wheeler's Democratic wing, may unseat Mr. Murray. That is why the pressure has been applied to Mr. Johnson to stand again.

The Democrats hope to regain the necessary four seats by defeating at least that number of the following Republicans: Moore, Okla.; Revercomb, W. Va.; Cooper, Ky.; Buck, Del.; Robertson, Wyo., and Brooks, Ill.

VIEWS OF OTHERS

TOO MUCH—TOO SOON!

The experts are already worrying over an imminent over-production of rubber. So spectacular has been the rehabilitation of the natural rubber industry since the end of the war that it threatens to ruin a war-born synthetic industry and bring serious economic dislocation to countries engaged in production of natural rubber, especially in the far east.

Production of synthetic rubber last year was 800,000 tons, more than 90 per cent of which was turned out in the United States. This year we are cutting our output to 500,000 tons. The world output of natural rubber is estimated to be 1,200,000 tons and consumption will be no more than 1,500,000, leaving a surplus of approximately 200,000 tons at the end of the year—a record carryover.

The problem is further complicated by the expanded production foreseen next year. Capacity of synthetic plants to be operated will be 600,000 tons, while production of natural rubber is expected to reach 1,500,000 tons.

Experts say world consumption cannot account for more than 1,500,000 tons. In the face of a constantly increasing supply of rubber and a relatively fixed consumption, planners for world peace are not discounting the economic chaos which may follow a slump in raw rubber's price.

To discuss the problem a group of experts representing the United States, Holland and France will meet in July. An effort will be made to work out plans for dealing with the rubber surplus and the possible stabilization of prices through curtailment of production.

Another possible suggestion will be the closing down of synthetic plants in the United States so as to curtail production by 600,000 tons annually. It may be expected that France and Holland will favor such a step. But the question for the United States to decide is whether or not the dismantling of our synthetic rubber plants, and a stoppage in our synthetic research program, is compatible with national security.

In view of unsettled world conditions, we cannot afford to take a chance of being caught short of rubber and the means of making it in the event of war.—Montgomery (Ala.) Advertiser.

GOOD IF NOT GENTEEL

Up in Buffalo, N. Y., a few days ago, a Cincinnati dentist, Dr. Edward L. Ball, took up for the old-fashioned toothpick. Regardless of the ire of etiquette sharks, the doctor insisted that the toothpick should be regarded as "the best means of cleaning teeth." He told the New York State Dental society that proper use of the toothpick would prevent 75 per cent of tooth decay.

Incidentally, he did not say that a toothpick used in seclusion was not as good as one plied in public. Anyhow, those who cling to the use of what someone called the postprandial splinter now have an expert on their side.—Memphis Commercial Appeal.

Dear Poty:

I'm having some amount of difficulty at home these days. Naturally, I immediately informed the rest of the family regarding the outcome of the local option election here. But one member of our little family refuses to accept the verdict of the majority.

Ahoy Polso:

Back in the early 1900's a bunch of engineers came into this area, built a few dams and darned near dried up Shoshone falls, except for a few weeks out of the year.

Now the voters come around and decide to "dry" up Twin Falls. Can't be many more falls left.

CORKY

Dear Pot Shots:

Read the recent column by Ines Puckett in the Sunday issue. Good writer, that gal. Must have quite a cat—Siamese named Cokey. She gave a nice description of Siamese cats—nice loving blue eyes when he is flirting, wine red pupils when he gets the hot foot.

Knowing Siamese cats, I want to add what this gal forgot to mention. They have a tail like any other cat, only different. The last three inches of the tail winds up in a corkscrew, therefore the cat's name should be Corky instead of Cokey. When that cat crawls all over her, that gal better look out for if that corkscrew-tailed cat ever gets the end of his tail in that gal's hair . . .

GENTLEMAN IN THE FOURTH ROW

Local Youths to Attend Conclave

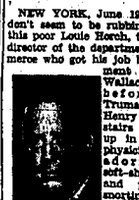

An ice cream social will be held at 7:30 p.m. Monday on the Presbyterian church lawn to raise funds to send George Halley and Phyllis Petersen to the Westminster Fellowship convention at Grinnell college, Grinnell, Ia.

Miss Petersen, the daughter of Mrs. Christina Petersen, is district president of the Presbyterian youth organization, while Halley, son of Dr. and Mrs. George O. Halley, is clerk of the district organization and president of the Twin Falls chapter.

The pair will leave here June 25 for the week-long parley. The social is the second fund-raising project undertaken by the group in the past few weeks. A playlet was staged recently.

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

NEW YORK, June 19—I hope I don't seem to be rubbing it in on this poor Louie Horch, the regional director of the department of commerce who got his job by appointment of Henry Wallace shortly before Harry Truman threw Henry down the stairs all tangled up in his metaphysician's robe adorned with soft-shelled crabs and perch and snorting bull of the zodiac and threw his crystal ball and stuffed tomcat after him.

Westbrook Pegler

Horch got mixed up with Wallace and Prof. Nicholas Konstantin Roerich back in the twenties. Horch had made a lot of money in foreign exchange and, like some others of the same general experience in life, decided to invest in a kind of culture.

That was how came he to pick up with Roerich, who seems to have sized up the American parvenus according to the old continental formula, and certainly wasn't wrong.

Roerich put on airs, he ran his fingers through his scraggly, two-legged oriental beard, and, on the reminiscences of some embittered back-sliders of the cult, he was so elusive and superior that he had some of them thinking he was at least super-normal and one of those Tibetan wise-guys, if not supernatural and almighty God himself.

And that, my friends, isn't my blasphemy if blasphemy it be at all.

A man who has been working on theosophy was in a little while ago with a big book on the hard-shell or Blavatsky school of theosophy and he said they say God lives in the Himalayas and is some kind of Chinaman. They say they know his name and R. F. D.

• • •

"Do you think it could have been a mistake on our part to brush off Father Divine?" I asked him. "You know his people said he was God."

"That is ridiculous," he said. "Don't be afraid. He is an Afro. This party is a Chink."

Well, as I say, poor Horch put in with a lot of money and he says old Roerich started out impossible and became more and more so all the time. He had to be the head man. He didn't visit or talk business. You entered the presence. And Horch got sick and tired of the sameness of the old boy's paintings of mountains and Himalayan hop-joints and haystacks on fire.

The first time I interviewed Horch, he said he soon got wise to Roerich and started to get back some of the money he had put into the big Lamasery on Riverside drive where the faithful, a close little group, were going to have free rent come hell or high water, and nobody's paintings but old man's were to be shown in the gallery.

This was the plant where Henry Wallace visited some times, back in those days when the goofy Guru stuff in a handwriting an awful lot like his were being written and in language that you would want to disown even if you were a sophomore in the sweet anguish of your first crush.

• • •

Henry Wallace used to visit there and Roerich gave him the arm's length treatment, too, and had our goggle-eyed secretary of agriculture so well in hand that Wallace was honored to be allowed to send Roerich to Mongolia and China chasing grass-seed at our expense.

He was going to plant it in our dust bowl, but after a spell, Wallace, too, like his pal, Horch, got sick and tired of Roerich, and canned him by cable in China.

And then nature and the rotten Republicans conspired together to souse the dust bowl with rain and blow seed in on the north wind and the grass came back anyway without any special packets of seed from Mongolia, to the discredit of our department of agriculture.

"We fired the guy soon enough," Mr. Horch said. "He wanted to be flattered all the time. We fired him out in 1935, absolutely. Success went completely to his head."

Yes, but what about the Guru business, I wished to know. Did Mr. Horch ever subscribe to the monkey-business about the flaming chalice and the purifying fires, the heart trust and so forth?

This was the kind of prattle that made the Guru letters such amusing yet terrifying reading when one considered that the writer of this gullah might have been a man who might have stepped into the presidency in time of war. Suppose it was Wallace and consider those goofy expressions and the statements that he has been making in his recent speeches abroad and here.

He was vice president until 1945, three years after we actually went into war. He could have called in some fortune-teller or Himalayan faker to tell him what to do. Hitler heard voices. He obeyed his instincts rather than his generals and plowed ahead into Russia and plowed under the whole German race.

Horch laughed. Nope, he never went for the philosophical or spiritual nonsense. He was practical business man. Foreign exchange. Foreign credit. Money. Very common-sense fellow.

• • •

Then I plodded on, down to the lawyers' offices, after that record of the court trial in which Horch got back control of the apartment house.

And then I called Horch back and started reading him out of the record some of his own baby-talk letters, and honestly he cringed so hard you could hear him. Well, yes; of course, he said, for a while they kind of humored the old guy just to make him feel good.

And, yes, of course, that kind of stuff sounds silly when you read it in cold blood later, but, after all, don't forget; he, Horch, and Henry Wallace, did fire Roerich.

The strange quirk of it all is that poor Horch's letters are in the law books for anyone to read or republish, while the goofy Guru letters are still more or less withheld from public view, and Henry hasn't been forced to acknowledge them or forced to deny them and set people to pinning them on him.

I was going over some of Henry's writings today. As a symbol in the front of the one called "New Frontiers" there is a device designed by Roerich himself as the insignia of the cultural red cross of the world. Roerich was right proud of that little sign.

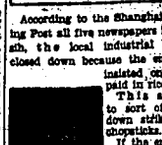

It consists of a red circle and within the circle three red spheres. The circle, of course, is probably the oldest and simplest sign in all symbolism.

The three red spheres have long been honored in the vulgar culture of the western world as the insignia of the place where a man can hock a watch from Monday to pay day.

Mobile was laid out by the French in 1711.

BOB HOPE

According to the Shanghai Evening Post all five newspapers in Wuhsih, the local industrial center, closed down because the employes insisted on being paid in rice.

Bob Hope

This amounts to sort of a sit-down strike with chopsticks.

If the employes win their rice demands, they'll probably call in Artie Shaw as city editor.

And in case anybody tries to hold up a reporter and take his pay check, he can always sprinkle a little salt on his wallet and swallow it.

One reporter was asked if he wanted to go to Shanghai as a foreign correspondent or stay here. It was a tossup. Should he get paid off in that American stuff, that's nice and crispy or that Chinese stuff that's rice and krispy.

Of course, over there there's no such thing as inflation. To them it's just another case of puffed rice.

I heard about one guy on the paper who lost his job but it didn't bother him. He just bought a farm and grew his own money.

But somehow I don't think it would work out paying our newspapermen with food.

When a reporter came running in yelling, "I've got a scoop," you wouldn't know whether he just landed a story or got paid off in ice cream.

New, Radical, Medium Cost Car Revealed

CHICAGO, June 19 (U.P.)—Behind locked doors the controversial Tucker '48, a new and radically-different medium-priced automobile, received finishing touches today for private premiere.

Here is a "sneak-premiere" of what dealers will see when they gather Thursday to look over the pilot model which engineers report has $00 less parts than conventional cars and is "skid proof."

The car's details were learned here, as the securities and exchange commission closed hearings at Philadelphia on the Tucker corporation's request for permission to issue $20,-000,000 in common stock.

Engine in Rear

The Tucker has its engine in the rear of the car. So-called "floating power" moves directly from the flat-opposed 6-cylinder of 150 horsepower to the wheels. That eliminates the clutch, transmission and differential.

The car is streamlined and stands just five feet high from road to roof. It has a 128-inch wheelbase. The engineers say the car is designed not to overturn no matter how it is driven on the highway.

Third Headlight

In addition to the usual headlights, a third lamp placed in the center of the grill is geared to turn with the wheels and light the way around curves.

The six exhausts—one for each cylinder—are set three on a side beneath the rear bumper. Driving instruments are on the steering shaft. At top speed the car can pull down to a dead stop in 240 feet instead of the 1,400 feet needed by conventional cars, engineers disclosed.

State Salvaging Rupert PW Camp

BOISE, June 19 (AP)—State Purchasing Agent Harold Boyd was to go to Rupert today to inspect salvage operations on buildings and fencing purchased by the state from the war assets administration at the former Rupert prisoner of war camp.

Boyd said the state purchased 30 buildings for prices ranging from $1 to $290—most of which will be salvaged for lumber. He said a large quantity of plumbing fixtures and equipment was included. The materials will be shipped to Boise for storage.

In addition the state obtained for $769 between eight and nine miles of heavy fencing complete with posts, Boyd said.

Lights, Brakes Found Defective

BUHL, June 19—More than half the vehicles traveling between Buhl and Castleford from 8 to 10:30 p. m. Wednesday were found to have defective lights and brakes, in the first of a series of vehicle checks to be made throughout Magic Valley by state, county and local law enforcement officers.

Most numerous light defects were no taillights, only one headlight, lack of flares and reflectors on vehicles licensed as trucks. About 100 vehicles were checked in the campaign to increase highway s afety.

The committee decided to meet here again July 22.

Labor Turns On Pressure For Bill Veto

WASHINGTON, June 19 (U.P.) — Organized labor turned on the heat for a veto today as President Truman settled down to write his verdict on the Taft-Hartley labor control bill.

Mr. Truman called off his regular Thursday news conference and put aside most other business. His decision on the labor bill goes to congress tomorrow and most observers look for a veto.

Decision Reached

White House sources disclosed that Mr. Truman, who said two days ago that he had not made up his mind, reached his final decision late yesterday. They said he based it on what he believed best for the nation as a whole and irrespective of what any group interest wanted.

Union leaders meanwhile put finishing flourishes on a campaign that helped swamp the White House with its heaviest flood of protests since Mr. Truman took office. Close to 800,000 letters, cards and telegrams jammed the President's mail room. The vast majority urging a veto.

Bulk Mimeographed

The bulk of these were printed or mimeographed "veto" communications prepared by unions and requiring only the sender's signature.

Today's crop included a statement from 40 lawyers, industrial relations experts and labor economists that the Taft-Hartley bill's "unwise, unfair, and unworkable" provisions would increase, not prevent, labor strife.

But Donald Richberg, former NRA general counsel, said in a broadcast that a veto would constitute a "mistaken act of friendship" to labor. Arguments for a veto, he said, are not only political but shortsighted.

Can't Break His Good Habits!

Bert Childers was saying, it's funny how so many of our wartime habits stick with us.

Bert likes plenty of butter on his bread, but even now he can't get over spreading it like it was scarce as hen's teeth. And as a warworker, Bert used to stick to a tamperate glass of beer on time off; and he still holds fast to beer and moderation.

Same way with Bert's wife. She not only has no trouble saving used fats, and waste paper. She learned from wartime necessity to save every single thing that might possibly be used again.

From where I sit, it's mighty good that so many of these common-sense habits like thrift and moderation have stayed with us. Because they belong in America—along with tolerance, and mutual respect for one another's rights. They're habits that have helped to make this country strong and neighborly and free.

Old Methods Seen in Rule For Hungary

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

There's one angle of the communist kidnaping of Hungary which may produce some good.

The totalitarians are forced, at least for the time-being, to operate under the white light of American news reporting. Correspondents may not have been able to dig out all of the devious story.

But, in general, people throughout the world have had a running picture of the intrigue, and it is a picture reminiscent of the days when brownshirts and blackshirts were fastening a "new philosophy" on Germany and Italy.

Rally Fight Told

Take Monday night's dispatches from Szeged, where the Freedom party staged a meeting to determine whether freedom of speech and of assembly still exists in Hungary.

Men and women fought back with fists and chairs against communists armed with weighted rubber hose, brass knucks and hatchet-like clubs. The burly communists had forced the doors. Fighting continued until it was obvious the communists were getting the worst of it. Then the police stepped in to stop it. But the meeting was broken up—there was no free speech.

Old Methods Revived

All the old familiar methods are being revived in the Balkans. Leaders appear suddenly on flood-lighted balconies . . . claques chant . . . men who deal out, or withhold the ration and work cards herd the people into poster-bedecked streets to cheer the passage of communist leaders.

Surface things, these, but things which weigh heavily upon, and ultimately break, the spirit of a people.

Navy Takes Wraps Off Work Of California Rocket Center

INYOKERN, Calif., June 19 (AP)—An enemy power planning to A-bomb the United States might well select as one of the first targets the naval weapons research center at Inyokern.

This is not a military secret. Any potentially hostile nation knows the importance of this experimental station in the development of new weapons. Strangely enough, most Americans who know of it think of it mainly as a place where the navy tests rockets.

Capt. James B. Sykes, commanding officer of the research center, doesn't believe this is good psychology. As a result, in an exclusive interview, he disclosed for the first time the full scheme of operations at Inyokern and their relation to the nation's vital weapon-development program.

"During the war a high classification of secrecy was necessary," says Capt. Sykes. "But the war is over. The public is entitled to know as much as we can tell them about Inyokern — without violating the secrecy necessarily shrouding some of our projects."

Capt. Sykes didn't discuss it, but there is also a matter of future appropriations. The installation already has cost more than $100,000,000, and has a payroll of more than $1,000,000 a month.

About the size of the state of Rhode Island, the station covers more than 1,000 square miles and extends into three California counties—Inyo, Kern and San Bernardino.

Nearly 12,000 persons—naval and civil workers and their families—live on the base. Several thousand others have to live in trailer areas outside the station because of an acute housing shortage. A good-sized city has sprung up among the cactus and sagebrush 15 miles off the highway, since 1943.

Rocket research is only a part of the station's work. Here also are developed:

1. New and secret high-power explosives for warheads.

2. Radio electronic systems for controlling the projection from aircraft of rockets, bombs, gun projectiles and torpedoes. This is the key to aerial warfare of the future. Exactly what is being done cannot be fully told, but several hundred scientists, including some of the world's best, either live on the base or work in close association.

3. Guided missiles. Capt. Sykes says "we are developing weapons potentially far superior to the German V-2 bomb. Eventually our new ram-jet should have better control and carry a heavier payload."

Backing of Fair At Gooding Wins C of C Approval

GOODING, June 19—The Gooding Chamber of Commerce Tuesday approved the executive committee's action in underwriting the Gooding county fair to the extent of $1,000 if necessary. The fair and rodeo has been set for Aug. 14 to 16.

A committee of Wayne Hudelson, chairman, Alex Watson and R. E. Cecil has been named to work with the fair board for more activities and advertising for the rodeo. Additional committee members chosen to work with the group are Mrs. Lleuru Lucke, Charles Sams, Walter Swope, Harold Wright and Leland Burress. More events for women are planned in the rodeo and fair.

Named on a committee to cooperate with the national guard unit in stimulating interest in the enlistment for the unit are Sams, Fred Locke and Fred S. Craig. John S. Crower is captain of the national guard company.

It was announced that a permanent lighting system is being planned for the fairgrounds.

'Quiet' Greets Wallace Plea For Conclave

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Former vice president Henry A. Wallace's proposal that President Truman invite Premier Stalin to a Berlin conference, as a "first step" to guarantee world peace, has encountered cautious silence of opinion over most of the globe.

Not so long ago such a move by the President might have been hailed as a grand idea. It isn't far back that this column was pointing out the profit which might be gained if the big four chiefs got together for heart-to-heart talks across the table.

But the situation recently has developed such ugly angles that any suggestion of Mr. Truman taking the initiative in inviting the generalissimo to a two-man parley certainly would call for much burning of midnight oil before it was adopted.

There has been the red coup in Hungary, resulting in the overthrow of the democratic government and the substitution of a communist regime. There have been other developments in numerous countries, including the United States, indicating that aggressive communism is on the march.

With this (and much more as background), it's easy to see that an invitation from President Truman right now might be mistaken as a rush to appeasement. Should such an erroneous impression be created, the repercussions both at home and abroad might be serious.

Coal Consumers Lag Placing Storage Orders

Coal consumers of this area still are lagging in placing orders for next winter's fual, dealers for Aberdeen Quality Coal said today. As a result, they are creating a dangerous supply situation which may be difficult to solve later on.

"We frankly cannot fill all expected requirements if homeowners wait until the 'last minute' to order next winter's coal," a representative dealer said. "The increased demand for Aberdeen Quality Coal, the shortage of freight cars, the impossibility of storing coal anywhere except in the users' bins are factors we cannot overlook. Consumers, by ordering now, give us the opportunity of placing them on a definite delivery schedule."

Dealers emphasize they must continue to take Aberdeen in regular shipments from the mine. With enough local orders, they then can deliver this coal directly to the homes for storage until the heating season. The dealers point out that Aberdeen stores without losing any of its natural heating qualities, and is now available in all desired sizes.

"We want to supply all our regular Aberdeen customers, as well as those many others who want the advantage of this high quality coal," the dealers said. They asked that users specify Aberdeen Coal when ordering.

'Cooperation' Pledge Ended, Solon Asserts

WASHINGTON, June 19 (U.P.) — Chairman John Taber of the house appropriations committee charged today that President Truman has broken his pledge to cooperate with the Republican congress.

The New York Republican issued his statement after the house passed an $8,167,869,027 bill to operate more than a score of independent government offices during the fiscal year starting July 1. It was $330,540,722 less than asked by the administration.

Little Opposition

The bill was approved without strong Democratic opposition but with spirited debate between Taber and Rev. Albert Gore, D., Tenn., over the reductions made thus far dent Truman's colossal budget estimates. Gore said the GOP economy drive had "fizzled."

Taber's statement said house Republicans have saved $4,483,916,796 in government operating costs "through wise reductions in President Truman's coloccal budget estimates for spendthrift bureaucrats."

These savings, Taber added, will be "increased substantially before congress adjourns."

Cut "Pitifully Short"

Gore had said during debate on the independent offices bill that "bona fide" GOP reductions amounted only to $1,875,716,750 — "pitifully short of the $6,000,000,000 goal."

Taber said it made no difference whether the savings were made in reductions of budget estimates, recoveries to the treasury or repeal of previously made appropriations.

Camping Fire Safety Rules Related Here

Three camping fire safety rules are provided by foresters of the U. S. department of agriculture in a communication received by County Agent Jack Smith.

With the picnic and camping season here, along with the dry period for fields and forests, the fire menace is particularly prevalent now.

Officials urge that before building a fire, all leaves, twigs, dry grass or other inflammable material should be scraped away from a spot five feet in diameter. A fire pit should then be dug in the center and a small fire built in the hole. Fire should never be built against trees, logs or brush.

A fire should never be left until it has been put out completely by soaking with water and pieces turned over for drenching both sides. The ground around the fire should then be soaked. If water is not available, the moist earth can be stirred and treaded down until packed tight over and around the fire.

The match used to light the fire should also be completely snuffed out. A good practice is to break it in two before throwing it away. Cigarettes or cigar stubs and pipe ashes should be completely dead before being discarded, and they should never be thrown into brush, leaves or pine needles.

Traffic Fines

Payment of 10 more over-time parking fines and one speeding fine has been made in Twin Falls city traffic court.

Paying fines of $1 each for over-time parking were Jimmy Richardson, Wilford Christensen, H. G. Lash, Keith Coleman, Nell Wheeler, M. Anderson, O. G. Manghan, John R. Hardin, Ben O'Hara and Stanford Rich.

Paying a $10 fine plus $3 costs for speeding was Abiram L. Standley.

It has been estimated that the Soviet Union had $2,000,000 men under arms in World war II.

Merry Marriage Mix-up Told As 'Grandfather' Claims Tots

LOS ANGELES, June 19 (U.P.) — Lester Burnett, 46, confessed today that he wasn't the grandfather of his daughter-in-law's children. He was the father.

It was all part with his son, Burnett said. He said the boy married the pretty young woman only as a favor to him. It was the only way Burnett could have her.

In a petition to have the two children listed as his own, Burnett said that 10 years ago he fell in love with pretty Angelina Pizzutto, then 17. Her parents refused to let them marry because he was twice her age and widowed.

"The father and the girl were madly in love," Burnett's attorney, Ben Van Tress, said. "It was a case of a man who could not live unless he had the girl and was willing to go to any lengths for her.

"And the son was devoted enough to his father to offer his name as a substitute in the marriage ceremony in order to make his parent happy and act as a shield so they could consumate their affection."

Lester Jean Burnett, 18, and the girl went through the mock courtship and were married Oct. 11, 1937, the petition said. Then his father took over.

All three lived peacefully in nearby El Monte while Angelina gave birth to Lester Bryant Burnett, now 8, and Rose Maria, 6. Meanwhile young Burnett was looking around for a wife of his own.

He found one in 1942. Angelina got a Nevada divorce Dec. 17, 1942, and married the elder Burnett there that day.

Since then the son has had a child of his own, and the father decided to straighten out the situation to prevent future legal difficulties.

Van Tress said he was preparing an affidavit for a second action in which wife, father and son acknowledged the facts and ask superior court to clarify the status of the children.

'Ike' Rejects School's Bid For Services

WASHINGTON, June 19 (AP) — Maj.-Gen. F. L. Parks said today that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower has been approached regarding the presidency of Columbia university, New York, but has no intention of quitting as army chief of staff this year.

Eisenhower authorized Parks, who is chief of the army public relations division, to issue the following statement:

"General Eisenhower has directed me to say that he has no intention of leaving his present assignment as chief of staff during the current year, and never without the full approval of the secretary of war and the President.

"Future Non-Political"

"In determining any future activity upon which he might embark at the conclusion of his duties as chief of staff, he would like to utilize his energies in something connected with public service of non-political nature.

"One suggestion he has received was from certain members of the board of trustees of Columbia university that he consider the presidency thereof, but he is not in a position to discuss the matter at this time.

No Jobs Considered

"If and when General Eisenhower makes a commitment as to his future plans, an announcement will be made to the press. In any event, he will not consider any engagement effective until after his superiors have released him from his present duty."

Parks issued the statement after publication of reports that Eisenhower had resigned as army chief of staff to become head of Columbia next fall.

Clark Tells West To 'Think Twice' On Training Plan

ODDEN, Utah, June 19 (U.P.)—The new commanding officer of the sixth army area, General Mark Clark, gave a word of caution to the west when he stopped briefly here last night on his way to his new post at San Francisco.

Clark said the people of the United States should think twice before abandoning the principles of universal military training, because preparedness of the nation for any emergency that might develop is our greatest assurance of world peace.

"We are now in a very difficult situation," said Clark. "This is particularly true as concerning our problems with the Soviet. We have had very little success so far in working out with them the terms of peace in Europe."

Validity Test Set for State "Drink" Law

BOISE, June 19 (AP)—The Bingham club of Shelley has decided to seek only an interpretation and decision as to the constitutionality of the new Idaho liquor law, instead of filing efforts for a court order to prevent enforcement of the statute.

The club filed a motion in District Judge Charles F. Koelsch's court yesterday, asking that he proceed only with consideration of the constitutionality phases.

Earlier in the week, Koelsch denied the club's petition for an injunction against officers. He held that the club has been given opportunity to bring about a test of the constitutionality of the act by its defense of cases pending against the club.

The Bingham club and its operators were charged in April in Bingham county courts with maintaining rooms for the consumption of liquor in violation of the new law.

The club charges that the new liquor law discriminates against persons living outside incorporated cities and villages because it provides for licensing liquor-by-the drink establishments in those communities only.

Army Schedules Special Courses To School Grads

High school graduates may now apply and be selected for training in certain specialized army air force training courses of their own choice before enlistment, according to information received by telegram from the adjutant general by First Lieut. George P. Claxton, officer in charge of the Twin Falls army recruiting station.

Applicants who desire to enlist for a definite school may do so by writing direct to the commanding general, air training reception center, Barksdale field, La., giving their full names, addresses, ages, race and summary of previous military service, if any. Also included should be a transcript of high school credits and three letters of recommendation.

High school graduates who desire to apply are urged by Lieut. Claxton to call at the Twin Falls army recruiting unit, 136 Shoshone street, for further information and to look over the specialized courses offered.

Enlistments Asked For Guard Units

BOISE, June 19 (UP)—State Adjutant General John Walsh today appealed for enlistments in the Idaho national guard program which he said is organized to take up its duties immediately in the event of any emergency.

Walsh said the state guard allotment is 6,000 but that present strength is only at slightly more than 600. He said 20 units of the guard have been activated in Idaho, 16 of them since the first of the year. Three more are ready for activation. He said the total number of units assigned to the state is 42.

Walsh said he was convinced that for Idaho to make the full national guard quota assigned the state it would be necessary for the country to adopt universal military training.

West Rail Setup Flayed by Taylor

WASHINGTON, June 19 (AP)—Senator Taylor, D., Ida., in debate on the Bulwinkle bill yesterday said:

"My colleagues from the west will be particularly interested to know that the interstate commerce commission, which was established 60 years ago, has never conducted a general investigation of freight rates in the far west.

"It is almost beyond belief that nearly one half the United States is using a rate structure of the 1880s, with only the patches and makeshift changes that the ICC has from time to time seen fit to place on the old rate structure."

Rodeo Chutes Are Built for Show at Buhl

BUHL, June 19 — Eight rodeo chutes have been completed at the Buhl baseball field turning it into one of the most modern rodeo arenas in the Pacific northwest, according to John M. Barker, publicity chairman for the Buhl rodeo to be held June 27 and 28.

The eight chutes are located at the east end of the field near the grandstand.

To add to the festivities of the occasion, Barker announced that the Mid West carnival would be set up at the south side of the ball park.

Box seats for the rodeo will be auctioned off at the Western ball Saturday evening in the Legion hall with Col. Roy Hopkins as auctioneer. At the dance the queen of the rodeo will be selected.

The Jerome sheriff's posse will drill on the first night of the two-day rodeo and the Twin Falls county mounted sheriff's posse will ride the final night.

A total of $1,500 in prizes has been approved by the Rodeo Cowboys association and cowboys from all sections of the country have sent in their applications. Guy Cash, Pollock, Ida., is furnishing stock for the show.

First of Idaho's Air Markers Set

BOISE, June 19 (AP)—The first in a series of 300 air markers throughout the state will be painted today on a rooftop near Star, Chet Moulton, state director of aeronautics, announced.

The markers will consist of the word "Star" in 20-foot letters with arrows pointing to Boise and Nampa with the distance in miles to each city.

Similar signs will be installed throughout the state as a guide to pilots on cross-country trips.

Robert Marriott of Boise has contracted for painting in southern Idaho communities, Moulton said.

Western Ad Men Slate Convention

SUN VALLEY, June 19 (AP)—Top-flight leaders in the advertising business will come here early next week for the convention of the Advertising Association of the West, a meeting which will extend through Thursday.

Registration opens Sunday, with some 450 delegates expected to sign up.

The guest of honor will be Secretary of Commerce W. Averell Harriman. He will give an informal address Monday night.

Legal Problems Worked Out for Albion Airstrip

ALBION, June 19—Legal arrangements for the construction of an airstrip at Albion were completed yesterday when Irving C. Allen, civil aeronautics authority attorney from Seattle, conferred with Adonis H. Nielson, Burley attorney, and Joe Simonson, chairman of the village board.

Surveying for the airstrip also was completed yesterday and Simonson said construction probably would start on the port within 60 days.

The airstrip will be located one-half mile southeast of Albion on the road to Howall canyon. The proposed field will be 150 feet wide and 3,000 feet long.

The civil aeronautics authority has approved an allocation of $5,936 in federal funds for the construction of an $11,200 airstrip. A small administration building also will be constructed at the field.

It was pointed out that the airstrip would enable flight students attending Southern Idaho College of Education to fly back and forth to Burley, where they are receiving instruction.

Oldtimer Defies Big Mississippi To Save Stock

HULL, Ill., June 19 (UP) — Old Charley Reed defied the Mississippi river today.

The 90-year-old farmer didn't exactly beat his chest as the mighty stream which threatens to hurl tens of thousands of tons of water over his rich bottom land acres. He just stayed home, while his neighbors moved out.

"The heck with it," Charley said. "We're staying right here."

"I remember the last time the flood came over us. That was 59 years ago, in '88. I don't think it'll hit us now. That's why we're staying on.

"I've got 50 head of fine white-faced cattle in my feed lot. If I move them out they'll be underweight and I'll take a loss when I market them."

Neighbors were having trouble figuring out whether old Charley was awfully brave or just a plumb fool. Most of them decided to pull up and get out while the getting was good.

Surplus Gas Masks Bring More Worry

CHICAGO, June 19 (U.P.)—Uncle Sam has 2,000,000 gas masks in his cellar and they're yours for the bidding.

That is, if you can use 1,000 or more. Your uncle is too busy with taxes, labor and foreign business to peddle gas masks one at a time.

Bruce J. Brown, Chicago regional director of the WAA admitted after considerable hemming and hawing that there is a joker in the nose bags which cost the government $5,000,000.

They're no darn good as gas masks.

"Unsafe, Unfit"

Brown said that the masks have been declared "unsafe and unfit" for use as gas masks or smoke masks. But he hastened to get on record as saying there are a lot of other things you can use a gas mask for.

For instance, if you have one clamped on your puss at the proper angle, the little woman can't tell whether you stopped for a beer on the way home.

Brown wouldn't be quoted as saying so, but they also would be handy at tub-thumping political rallies.

"Be Serious"

The WAA official said be serious about this thing.

The canister, containing certain chemicals, he said, can be removed and used in refrigerators as deodorizers.

That, he said, might give you ideas for other uses.

Five Persons Ask Permits to Build

Five building permit applications were filed Wednesday and Thursday at the city clerk's office.

A. E. Robison, 538 Second avenue east, asks permission to move a 26 by 46-foot frame one-family dwelling from outside the city limits to lot two of the Mark Means subdivision where it will be placed over a full, cemented basement on a concrete foundation. Estimated cost is $900.

Roy Painter, 1015 Shoshone street north, plans to enclose a front porch, remove a partition, and remodel the space into a bedroom, at an estimated cost of $1,000.

Loren H. Cress, 276 Lincoln street, seeks permission to complete construction of a 29 by 34-foot one family dwelling at 451 Ash street. He estimates the cost at $4,000.

Dow Conder, 190 Ramage street, plans to build a 10 by 24 addition to a 14 by 24-foot frame one family dwelling to provide bedroom and kitchen. His application indicates he plans to use salvaged lumber with the exception of new material for the roof. Cost is estimated at $400.

J. M. Busby, 445 Fourth avenue west, plans to add a 15 by 15-foot addition to a frame and stucco one family dwelling. Estimated cost is $700.

Dismissal Given In Divorce Case

A motion for dismissal with prejudice was granted by District Judge James W. Porter Thursday morning in the divorce action started Wednesday by Maj. M. R. Villers against Clarice G. Villers.

The motion was filed by Earl E. Walker, attorney for Major Villers, after five persons took the stand Wednesday afternoon to testify regarding the then pending divorce action and the marriage of 14 years.

Both Major Villers and Mrs. Villers took the stand Wednesday. He testified, describing the alleged acts of cruelty on the part of his wife and she said that until the recent change of attitude on his part, their life had been harmonious and pleasant.

Others who testified were Enos Schiffler, G. P. Hunt and Colinette McKibbon.

Attorneys for Mrs. Villers were F. O. Sheneberger and Lloyd C. Buchler, Sacramento, Calif.

Similarity Seen in Campaigns Of Dewey, FDR in Party Bid

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON, June 19 (U.P.) — While the Republicans are hollering about secret papers they can't obtain from the late Franklin D. Roosevelt's memorial library, somebody might run up to Albany, N. Y., to frisk Gov. Thomas E. Dewey for Roosevelt documents he may have.

Dewey is quietly shooting for the GOP presidential nomination again. The late FDR was a Democratic governor of New York when he conducted his successful pre-convention campaign in 1931-32. The tactics of the two men are so similar you might think FDR forgot to take away his campaign plans when he moved out of the Albany executive mansion way back yonder.

Not only is their strategy similar, but their spot is about the same. Mr. Roosevelt was a veteran of one national campaign when he went all out for the Democratic presidential nomination in the early thirties. He had been tail to the 1920 ticket headed by James M. Cox. Dewey has one national campaign on his record as head of the GOP ticket in 1944. Both got licked in their first national go-round. Mr. Roosevelt was serving his second term as governor when he went after the Democratic presidential prize. Dewey is on term No. 2 now.

Like Mr. Roosevelt, Governor Dewey is chary of comment on top issues confronting congress. He is storing up the state record, perhaps for campaign purposes. And with considerable emphasis he indicates to all comers that he is attending strictly to the business of the state of New York—1st convention delegates stray where they may.

That was Mr. Roosevelt's way, although he didn't fool anyone much. Mr. Roosevelt understood the telephone and so does Dewey. Dewey frequently talks to three or four governors in a day, and to other political big shots far away from Albany. That was the Roosevelt technique, precisely.

Dewey keeps in touch with congress by telephone. He keeps tabs on foreign relations through John Foster Dulles, a Republican lawyer who has been an adviser to the state department.

The Roosevelt pre-convention campaign formula was to avoid trouble with congress, remain aloof from national affairs. But FDR sought to keep out in front at all costs short of embroiling himself with congress.

FDR, once called an all-New England conference of governors. It was depression time and the problem was relief. Dewey, hot too long ago called all northeastern governors on the cattle feed situation. That is one of the keep-out-in-front strategies.

Dewey will be setting off shortly on a 20-state swing as far west as Salt Lake City where he will attend next month's governor's conference. Lieut.-Gov. Joseph R. Hanley is just back from a junket through the western and southern states where he made patriotic speeches in public and talked Dewey in private. FDR had Jim Farley to do his pre-convention gum shoe work. But Mr. Roosevelt did not travel much before 1932.

FDR was an avowed pre-convention candidate. Dewey awaits a draft. But where Mr. Roosevelt had hot opposition in his own state—the late Al Smith—Dewey has a tight state organization behind him.

Reds Declare Acheson Talk Rude Slander

MOSCOW, June 19 (AP)—The communist newspaper Pravda today termed the Wallayan speech of retiring Undersecretary of State Dean Acheson a "gross and rude slander against the Soviet union."

(Acheson declared Sunday that Russia was retarding world recovery by steps in conflict with the "very premises" needed for international accord.)

The article in Pravda, the Communist party newspaper, was the sharpest attack yet on U. S. foreign policy in the Russian press.

"Dollar Atomic Diplomacy"

"The cynicism of dollar atomic diplomacy, the greed of American monopolies and the greed of unchecked expansion covered by the fig-leaf Truman doctrine has liquidated without the faintest traces the prestige of American foreign policy won by Franklin D. Roosevelt," it said.

Pravda said Acheson "does not want to admit responsibility for the situation rests greatly on those American politicians and diplomats who have become loudspeakers and conductors of deeply anti-democratic tendencies dangerous for the world."

"Blames Russia"

Saying Acheson sought to place blame on the USSR, Pravda continued:

"Acheson and his masters apparently feel" that supplies sent to the Soviet union during the war were "some sort of advance payment or some financial and political investment which will allow American imperialism to have some effect on Soviet politics or even give it the right to dictate to the Soviet union on how to behave."

Wednesday Crash Overturns Truck

One of two trucks which overturned in an accident investigated by sheriff's officers at 4:15 p. m. Wednesday on the sugar factory road.

Involved were a U. S. department of agriculture pick-up truck, driven by Bernard J. Ruffing, 130 Sixth avenue north, and a one and one half-ton Consolidated Freightways truck driven by Edward F. Shutte, 254½ Lois street.

Deputy Sheriff Boyd Thietten, who investigated, said both vehicles were traveling west with the pick-up following the larger truck. The pick-up started to pass the truck as the truck attempted to make a left turn. Thietten said the smaller had been hit by the truck. Left side of the pick-up was also damaged.

Cool COOKING FOR HOT DAYS . . .

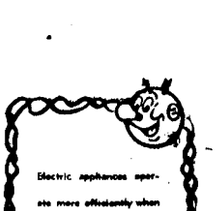

During the hot days to come, the housewife won't feel like doing much cooking unless she has an electric range that lets her kitchen stay cool.

The modern electric range is scientifically designed so that heat from the top burners goes directly into the cooking utensil—not too much or too little—but just the right amount of heat so that the food is cooked to perfection.

Ovens are so insulated that none of the heat escapes into the room, and automatic controls start and stop the cooking process at exactly the right times with the result that recipes are uniformly perfect. Because of these timing devices you can enjoy freedom from the kitchen—and an electric range is so easy to keep clean.

Electric cooking is both efficient and—at Idaho Power's low rates—economical. That's why it is so widely used. Ask your dealer to show you the advantages of fast, healthful electric cooking.

NCAA Meet Will Show High Altitude's Effect on Distance Men

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK, June 19—There are two schools of thought regarding what effect altitude has on participants in track and field, but the NCAA meet in the University of Utah stadium, June 20-21, will further illustrate that it does not improve distance men. Salt Lake is 4,263 feet above sea level.

Opponents of the theory that altitude is a handicap to the scanty-clads point to the fact that the national AAU meet of 1929 was held in Denver, which is 1,000 feet higher than Salt Lake.

This meet showed that while altitude did not retard sprinters, it slowed up routers practically to a walk.

Herb McKenley — Mel Patton

Colleges in the four corners of the nation and at most spots in between have sent their swiftest and mightiest to the Salt Lake centennial.

Penn State's Gerry Karver and Curt Stone will defend their current ranking as the country's foremost distance runners. Coach Chick Werner will start Horace Ashenfelter in the two-mine.

Herb McKenley has done 20.9 in the 220, 46.2 in the 440, the latter a world record unrecognized because the Illinois Negro was helped by a wind, but will find plenty of competition in the 440, his specialty. NYU's Negro, ex-GI Reggie Pearman, star of the Penn relays, will finish a bit of it.

Mel Patton joined Frank Wykoff, Jesse Owens and Clyde Jeffrey as co-holder of the world 100-dash mark of 9:4 and has done 20:4 in the 220. But Southern California's newest Fastest Human won't be rambling alone.

The Olympic Games coming up next year have given track and field a tremendous lift.

Magic Valley Derby to Be Run July 4 at County Fairgrounds

FILER, June 19—The Filer Quarterback club will meet on Thursday to complete plans made Tuesday night for a Magic Valley Derby to be held July 4 at the county fairgrounds in Filer, it was announced by Art Kurtz, president of the club.

At the Tuesday night meeting, the Quarterback club arranged with the fair board to lease the fairgrounds for a racing meet over the Independence Day holiday. The organization is acting only as a sponsoring group in order that the county fair board could have an established organization with which to deal.

The Quarterback club has contacted several Twin Falls county race promoters who have agreed to help organize the Magic Valley Derby. The club plans to hold a series of racing meets at the fairgrounds each year, and committees are to be appointed in Buhl, Kimberly, Twin Falls and other cities in the county.

PASSEAU RETURNS

CHICAGO, June 19 (AP)—Pennant stock of the Chicago Cubs rose a few points today when Claude Passeau, veteran pitcher, joined the team for the first time this season after submitting to a back operation last February.

SILVER CREEK OUTLOOK GOOD

HAILEY, June 19 (AP) — Tom Miser, conservation officer stationed here, said today prospects are good for the opening of the Silver creek fishing season July 1.

He said the Blaine county stream seems to have lots of fish, and that moss is coming in "very nicely."

COWBOYS CLIP BEES' PIONEER LEAD

Ye Olde Sport Scrivener is beginning to believe that the gent who not so many days ago recalled Jack Radtke's training camp prediction that Will McElroy "will drive in a lot of runs for us" and then took a big laugh for himself may have to hit the back alleys very soon, if not now.

For big Mac is doing just that—hitting in a lot of runs.

YOSS made a little check and startling discovery that the former pitcher, who took on new batting life when Manager Bolyard shifted him from third back to first, which is more familiar ground, is among the league's leaders in RBI's. He's got 53 of them now and that should not be very far behind Walt Loewe's leading total, which was 50 a week ago.

Since last Thursday, the big fellow, in eight contests, has driven in 16 runs, an average of two a game. That's a terrific pace which if carried through a season would mean 260 RBI's and Buddy Heslet, the Cowboy catcher, led the circuit last season with 124.

If the Cowboy first sacker can do only half as good for the remainder of the season, he'll finish with 134 runs-batted-in and that will be plenty good.

AND THAT'S THAT FOR NOW, except: Jim Keesey who got the bounce as Ogden's manager has his Des Moines club out in front in the Western league.

Ray Panneman Holds Bees to Three Safeties

SALT LAKE CITY, June 19 (AP)—The Idaho Falls Russets, behind the three-hit pitching of Ray Panneman, knocked off the leading Salt Lake City Bees, 2 to 0.

New York Star Leads in PGA

DETROIT, June 19 (AP)—Darkhorse and dark-haired Clarence Doser, stocky, 38-year-old veteran of golf's fairways, gave Plum Hollow's tricky course a good manhandling with a notable five-under-par 67 to lead 141 starters through the first half of the two-day qualifier for the 29th PGA championship.

Doser, a pro since he was 15 years old and whose 170 pounds is distributed over a five-foot-six-inch frame, collected a fine assortment of six birdies on his par-breaking round.

The New Yorker's great 67 gave him a one-stroke edge over solemn-faced Claude Harmon, a fellow New Yorker from Mamaroneck, and Jimmy Demaret, golfdom's laughing boy and the year's big money winner, from Ojai, Calif.

Blackwell, Cincy's Star, Hurls No-Hitter

CINCINNATI, June 19 (AP)—Lanky Ewell Blackwell of the Reds scored a double-first last night, pitching a 6-0 no-hitter against the Braves in his first night game of the 1947 season. And, while the lanky sophomore of the Reds lineup held Boston helpless, Babe Young of the Reds pounded two home runs with two men on base each time.

Blackwell allowed only four walks throughout the game, and only once did a Bostonian get past first.

CINCINNATI—During his playing days with Detroit, Cincinnati manager Johnny Neun stole five bases in a game.

Schmees Quits

SPOKANE, June 19 (AP)—George Schmees, the Spokane Indians' leading home run hitter, said last night he quit the team when he was left off the lineup in the Western International league game against Vancouver.

The big center fielder, currently batting .283 and a .316 hitter for Ogden in the Pioneer league last year, said he was "going home to California." He is a left-handed hitter.

"I want to play baseball," he said. "If I'm not good enough to bat against left-handed pitching, I might as well quit."

11-Hit Attack Sends Cards to 9-2 Trouncing

By MAJOR HOOPLE
The Little Man Who Wasn't There

POCATELLO, June 19—Manager Earl Bolyard's Cowboys last night came close to accomplishing for the third time since they left home one of those rare feats of baseball—an every-member hitting attack and that they didn't was the fault of the grandest little hitsmith of them all—Jack Radtke. He failed to bolster his better-than-.350 average while his mates—especially Will McElroy who got a double and two singles—were banging out 11 safeties to defeat the Pocatello Cardinals, 9-2.

The victory was especially pleasing because it drew the Cowboys a full game closer to the lead held by Salt Lake City and strengthened the possibility of the Wranglers taking the front seat when the two clubs clash in a four-game series at Jaycee park in Twin Falls starting Saturday night. However, the Russets, who tamped the Bees, 2-0, and Ogden, winner over Boise, also triumphed to keep them in a tie for second place with the Cowboys.

Logue Winning Hurler.

Frank Logue, the Bremerton 19-year-old with the sneaking fastball, finally got a break from Old Dame Fortune, and won a game. He held the Cardinals to seven safeties and had a shutout until the sixth inning.

The Cowboys had hopes of slashing the Bees' lead still further Thursday night with Frank Prowse, the veteran of Bolyard's staff, doing the chucking against Bill Glimpse, the Cards' southpaw.

Just as they have in most of their games on the road trip, which has brought five victories in seven games, the Cowboys scored in the first inning. As usual Georgie Leyrer walked, took second on Danielson's grounder and came home when McElroy drove a one-baser over second.

There was no more scoring until the fifth frame when the Wranglers put over four tallies. With two down, Radtke reached first on Lane's fumble and promptly stole second. Hal Danielson walked and McElroy again singled over second to count Radtke. Hal Loewe, who is slowly coming out of his slump, then tripled against the right center field to score Danielson and McElroy. Balassi beat out a roller to Thompson as Loewe came home.

Costly Error

The Cowboys made the score 8-0, with a three-run assault in the sixth frame. With one down, Sady beat out an infield hit to shortstop. Logue singled through the box and Leyrer singled to right center and when Vinbladh let the ball get past him for an error Sady and Logue scored and the Cowboy center-fielder pulled up at third. Danielson's single then put Leyrer across.

Then came the Cardinals' one big inning. Lane singled through the box and O'Laughlin doubled along the right field foul line. Logue fanned the next two batters but Sack singled to left, scoring Lane and O'Laughlin.

The final run of the game, scored by the Cowboys, came in the ninth when Loewe reached first on Lane's error, was sacrificed to second by Balassi and Marlow got a one-baser to right.

HARVARD WINS CLASSIC

Former Clerk of Draft Board Set To Shoe Horses

Joe L. Roberts is all things to all men.

To thousands of GI's and other townspeople, he is remembered as the former clerk of Twin Falls draft board No. 1. He is also known as an ex-deputy sheriff, expert horse handler, trick rope artist, marksman and rock collector who shapes brilliant stones into rings and other articles.

Thursday another capability cropped up with announcement that he will open a horseshoeing shop in Twin Falls Monday morning. This shop will be located at the Arnold Cross stables east of the Cowboy baseball park on Elizabeth street.

The role is a new one for Roberts here, but not to his career, as he was in blacksmithing work at Stites for seven years and he also has had previous experience in shoeing rodeo horses.

He indicated that later he may expand his operations to include general shop work.

Idaho Vets Rush Insurance Plans

Idaho veterans have reinstated national service life insurance with a face value of $8,497,000 since the insurance program was opened by the veterans administration last February, Warren O. Nuzman, contact representative of the Twin Falls office, announced Thursday.

Veterans reinstating their insurance number 1,371. In May alone, $466,000 worth was reinstated by 83 veterans.

In making this announcement, the official pointed out that present liberal reinstatement provisions will expire Aug. 1, 1947. National service term policies may now be picked up in any amount up to $10,000 by paying two monthly premiums and submitting a comparative health statement. After Aug. 1, veterans of World war II will be required to pass a physical examination to reinstate their insurance.

Discussion of U. S., Russia Held by Club

with the opportunity to study in other countries.

Thomas expressed the opinion that Russia fears the rest of the world and that Russia is "bluffing." The United States policy should be firm and we should hinder Russia's development of "buffer" states as much as possible, he added:

Chairman of the program committee who introduced the speakers was Jewil Ahlin.

I. E. (Bill) Nitschke opened discussion on the plan for operation of ball gum machines in various business establishments to raise funds for assisting underprivileged children. The club voted to undertake the project, and from 100 to 150 machines will be operated in the city, with member merchants donating the space.

Guests included Gould Richards, Minneapolis, Minn., introduced by P. L. Lawrence; Merrill and Dallin Oaks, Utah residents formerly of Twin Falls, who were guests of Claude Brown; and Merle A. Soden, Anaheim, Calif., a visiting Kiwanian.

Vandal Geologic Parties Set for Mineral Studies

MOSCOW, June 19 (AP) — Three geologic parties sponsored by the Idaho bureau of mines will leave Moscow this week to make mineral studies in Butte and Custer counties as well as reconnaissance studies of black sand occurences in various placer mining areas.

In the latter districts, samples will be collected and studied for their thorium content. Thorium contains important fissionable isotopes.

Making the field trips will be:

Dr. Alfred E. Anderson, for many years with the department of geology at the university and now professor of geology at Cornell university, who will be assisted by Thor Killsgaard, Moscow, junior geologist with the bureau of mines and geology. They will work in Custer county.

W. W. Staley, professor of mining at the University of Idaho, assisted by Walter Shaw, Moscow, senior in the school of mines. The two will inspect the black sand occurences.

Men Fighting to Save Corn Land

By United Press

Several hundred weary men fought today to keep a leak in the Iowa river dike near Oakville, Ia., from flooding an entire drainage district of 22,000 acres of rich corn land.

The flooding Iowa river had surged through the narrow levee break since yesterday, but time was on the side of the flood fighters as long as they could keep the break from widening. The river crested during the night and was expected to begin receding sometime today.

By mid-morning, the workers believed they had won their fight. Army engineers said flood waters would remain near the peak for 48 hours, but Mayor O. D. Johnson said the crisis had ended.

Several thousand acres in the drainage district already were flooded and the town itself, from which the children and women had fled, was virtually isolated by flood waters swirling southeast around the town. All highways were inundated.

2 Valley Mayors Named to League

IDAHO FALLS, June 19 (AP) — Mayor E. W. Fanning, president of the Idaho Municipal league, today announced the appointment of eight mayors to fill vacancies on the league's board of directors.

The vacancies were created when mayors were defeated or withdrew as candidates for re-election at last april's elections.

New appointments are Mayors Potter P. Howard, Boise; R. G. Adams, Coeur d'Alene; George R. Phillips, Pocatello; H. G. Lauterbach, Twin Falls; Joe Peters, Burley; B. E. Lewis, St. Maries; W. E. Schultz, Priest River and C. O. Portfors, Orofino.

The only holdovers besides Mayor Fanning are Mayors C. J. Homestead, Nampa, and J. A. McMulan, Payette. Mayor L. J. Morgan, Lewiston, is vice-president.

Saturday Is Last Tax Payment Day

Saturday will be the last day to pay the second installment of 1946 property taxes at the treasurer's office in the Twin Falls county court house, it was announced Thursday by Fay Williams, deputy collector.

"If taxes are not paid by Saturday," she said, "the interest will date back to January 1."

A check may be mailed to the county treasurer if the envelope in which it is mailed is postmarked not later than June 21.

THE FACTORIES BUILD THE CARS AND THEY ARE DOING THE VERY BEST THEY CAN. PRODUCTION IS PITIFULLY SHORT OF DEMAND AND ALMOST WITHOUT EXCEPTION THE DEALERS ARE DOING AN HONEST & CONSCIENTIOUS JOB OF DELIVERING THE FEW NEW CARS THEY GET TO THEIR CUSTOMERS AT LEGITIMATE PRICES.

THAT IS ONE LAW—YOU MAY BE SURE—THAT WILL ALWAYS BE ENFORCED.

No Profits in Song Writing; Lawyer Says

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, June 19 (AP) — Those who yearn for the hush life shouldn't be songwriters.

That's what John Schulman told a house judiciary subcommittee yesterday. He's the counsel for the Songwriters Protective association.

Schulman said the average songwriter last year made only $5,000.

"Now take his returns from phonograph records," said Schulman. "Let's say he writes a hit song, one that sells 1,000,000 records. If he wrote it by himself, he would get $10,000. More likely he wrote it with someone else, so he'd get $5,000.

"Hits" Not Often

"That's a hit, mind you. And how many hits will a man write in his lifetime?"

"Why, he'd be better off as a lawyer," said Representative Lewis, R., O., who is a lawyer.

"Yes," said Schulman, who is ditto.

"But not as a congressman," said Representative Walter, R., Pa., who is both.

Congress is interested in a songwriter's credit standing because it is studying a bill which would change the copyright laws on coin-operated machines.

No Returns

As it now stands, songwriters don't get any returns from the performances of their records on juke boxes.

Juke box operators previously have told the committee they think that's a good thing because, they said, they're going broke already.

Representative Bryson, D., S. C., said he thinks songwriters are entitled to a fair return. On the other hand, he hopes music will remain as free as possible.

LEGAL ADVERTISEMENTS

ORDINANCE NO. 227

AN ORDINANCE AMENDING CHAPTER V, ARTICLE 22, SEC. 4 and 5 OF THE CODE OF 1942 OF THE CITY OF TWIN FALLS, IDAHO, BY PROVIDING BEER LICENSES MAY BE ISSUED TO PERSONS WHO HAVE NOT BEEN CONVICTED OF ANY FELONY OR OF THE VIOLATION OF ANY LAW REGULATING, GOVERNING OR PROHIBITING THE SALE OF ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGES AND INTOXICATING LIQUOR, WITHIN FIVE YEARS PRIOR TO THE DATE OF MAKING APPLICATION FOR SUCH LICENSES.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE MAYOR AND COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF TWIN FALLS, IDAHO:

Germany Still Land of Gaunt, Burned-Out Buildings, Rubble

FRANKFURT, June 19 (UP)—It has been two years since the allies stopped bombing Germany, but this is still a nation of gaunt, burned-out buildings and rubble. In 24 months not more than five per cent of the rubble has been cleared away in Berlin and re-building is rare indeed.

Statisticians tell you that if all the rubble in Berlin were piled into a wall it would stretch to Dortmund, 260 miles away. The wall would be 15 feet high and 100 feet wide. Forty per cent of the buildings in Berlin are powdered too fine to be salvaged.

Willy Bonatz, chief of Berlin's building and housing department, says it would take 25 years and 7,000,000 freight car loads to get the rubble out of town.

Dresden has 46 cubic meters of rubble for every inhabitant. One third of the buildings here in Frankfurt are 70 per cent destroyed and in their present condition cannot be repaired.

Why doesn't somebody clear away the rubble? Whose fault is it that much of Germany is still in ruins? When asked those questions some Germans reply by denouncing the nazis.

There is no fixed policy for the rehabilitation of Germany. Whether a city makes any effort to clean away its rubble depends on the morale in that community. An enterprising mayor can do much to inspire the people. Political parties sometimes have "reconstruction rallies" at which they discuss programs, but they rarely tackle the problem of removing the rubble directly.

There is no shortage of manpower for the job. An unskilled laborer in Germany will work for from 90 to 150 marks a month (90 to $18). The Germans say the problem is to find material, fuel and machines to do the work.

Here is the size of the problem in one city: There are 1,400 skilled masons in Frankfurt. Four hundred of them work for the army, leaving 1,000 available for reconstruction of the city. An official survey has shown that it would take 8,900,000 working days of masonry to repair Frankfurt. That would keep the 1,000 available masons busy for 40 years—if they could find material to work with.

For major reconstruction projects bricks are salvaged. Building blocks and bricks are made by crushing rubble and pouring it with cement added into molds where it hardens for weeks.

Some German housing experts state their problem this way:

Ten million Germans were made homeless by the allied bombings.

Six million refugees have entered Germany from ceded territories.

Four million Germans were killed in the war.

Result: There are 12,000,000 persons in this country looking for houses.

Ancient Claim To Vancouver Being Probed

VICTORIA, June 19 (AP)—Search soon will be made for an ancient bottle believed to contain documents of a 157-year-old claim of a Spanish explorer to lands on Vancouver island.

Historians disclosed today that the first step has been accomplished with the finding of Paspal cross carved on a tree and believed an important link with the explorations of a dashing Spanish explorer, Manuel Quimper, who sailed the coast in 1790.

From ancient charts and a diary left by Quimper, the location of his landing at Albert head, in the bay of Esquimalt, four miles southeast of Victoria, the cross was found.

A Victorian historian, Cecil French, made the discovery. A provincial archivist, Willard E. Ireland, said the cross appeared to tally with one described by Quimper, who in his diary told of burying a bottle with documents claiming the land for Spain.

He wrote: "The bottle is buried at the back of the holy cross at the foot of a pine tree on which a cross was formed by cutting off the bark . . ."

Tree Old Enough

The tree located by French is obviously old enough to be the one described by Quimper. Forestry experts will visit the scene to determine its age.

The Spanish explorer cruised the Juan De Fuca straits, telling the story in his diary dated June 30, 1790, and his charts gave the bearings for the location of the cross-marked tree.
